

January 28, 2009

Thieman heads nonprofit directors group

The new officers of the Maui Non-Profit Directors Association are (from left) President Susie Thieman, Vice President Richard Yust, Secretary Keith Wolter and Treasurer Sherri Dodson.

WAIKAPU - Susie Thieman, Chief Executive Officer of MEO Business Development Corp., was installed as president of the Maui Non-Profit Directors Association.

Also installed for the 2009 term were Vice President Richard Yust, Maui Food Bank executive director; Secretary Keith Wolter, Maui AIDS Foundation executive director; and Treasurer Sherri Dodson, Habitat for Humanity Maui executive director.

Immediate past President Paula Ambre, executive director of The Maui Farm, continues on the board of directors.

Other members of the 2009 board are 'Ululani Correa, executive director of Maui Memorial Medical Center Foundation; Lyn McNeff, chief programs officer for MEO; and Melissa Ross, executive director, Big Brothers Big Sisters of Maui.

The installation was at the Maui Tropical Plantation.

The Maui Non-Profit Directors Association provides opportunities for agency leaders to gain personal and professional support through cooperative development activities and to do networking that can lead to positive changes in the community. Membership includes paid executive directors and deputies. The leaders also go by titles such as chief executive officer, chief professional officer, president and administrator.